Comcast Appoints Peter Neill Vice President of Comcast Business for the West Division

Neill to Lead Market Development Across 13 States

DENVER – October 16, 2017 – Comcast today announced that Peter Neill has been named Vice President of Comcast Business for Comcast’s West Division. In this role, Neill will lead sales, marketing and the customer operations organizations across 13 states focused on delivering an exceptional customer experience, accelerating market expansion and growing Comcast’s portfolio of business solutions and services, including Ethernet, internet, Business VoiceEdge™ and SmartOffice™.

Neill is a 30-year veteran of the telecommunications industry with extensive experience leading engineering, operations, sales, service delivery, product management, and customer experience initiatives for both startups and established companies. Throughout his career, he has served in a variety of leadership roles where he has improved customer loyalty while delivering quarter-over-quarter organic subscriber and revenue growth through the development of great teams.

“Peter’s extensive skill set and passion for building and leading winning teams make him the ideal person to lead Comcast Business for the West Division,” said Steve White, president of Comcast’s West Division. “His team-oriented approach, in combination with his ability to transform customer and employee loyalty into revenue retention and growth will lead the Division’s six regions to continued success.”

Prior to joining Comcast Business, Neill was executive vice president of global product strategy and customer experience at EdgeConneX, which specializes in global data center solutions at the edge of customer networks. Before that, he served as the chief customer officer and senior vice president of business process at Level 3 Communications, in addition to holding several other executive roles over seven years. Neill also has more than 15 years of wireless experience, working at both AT&T Wireless and Sprint early in his career. He has been instrumental in developing telecommunication businesses as an investor and operator, providing capital and management to help them focus and exceed business plan growth expectations.
