

“There is no incurable!” – Bruno Gröning

A new path to health for body and soul

Ilse S. was suffering from cervical cancer. Despite several treatments by the head gynecologist at the municipal clinic, the malignant disease could not be stopped. Her family doctor finally told her, “I can not do anything more for you, but I will give you a phone number where you may possibly still find help.” That was six years ago.

The GP's hint led the patient to the leader for the local community of the Bruno Groening Circle of Friends. Over the phone she was first informed about healing on the spiritual path, and a few days later, she was introduced to the teaching of Bruno Groening. She learned to mentally detach herself from the illness, and to absorb a power that the community leader called “Heilstrom” (healing force).

After three years, at the Christmas celebration of this community, Ilse S. reported that her last checkup at the clinic demonstrated that she was completely free of any cancer cells - that she had regained her health completely. She says that she feels physically fitter than she has felt in more than two decades. Still today, Ms. S. regularly takes in the healing force and attends the community hours of the Bruno Groening Circle of Friends every three weeks.

She has received healing of her severe burden, although the physicians treating her had tried everything possible with conventional medicine. Ms. S. has experienced something that cannot be explained from a conventional medical point of view, but nevertheless, it has happened, and such events are still happening for many people around the world.

Who was Bruno Groening?

Bruno Groening was born in 1906 in Gdansk (Germany at the time). As a young boy, he noticed that he had been born with special powers. Repeatedly, he experienced how sick animals and people were healed in his presence. As the son of a bricklayer foreman, he learned the trade of a carpenter. Because of the economic destitution in his hometown, Gdansk, he could not complete his apprenticeship. Until shortly before the end of WW2, he accepted various kinds of work. In 1945, he was drafted by the German army and subsequently became a Russian prisoner of war. After being released, he found a temporary home in Dillenburg (West Germany).

In 1949, an engineer from Herford, who had heard of Groening's healing powers, asked him to visit his bedridden son, Dieter, suffering from muscular dystrophy. Bruno Groening looked at the nine year old boy, and it came to pass the boy could leave his bed and learned to walk again. Deeply touched, the engineer asked Groening to stay as his guest. He invited more sick people to his home, who also were healed. In a very short time, the news of the “Miracle of Herford” spread, whereupon thousands of people streamed to the house of the engineer. However, a short time later, officials imposed a healing ban, because he had not been trained as a doctor or healing practitioner. Afterwards, he withdrew to the Traberhof in Rosenheim (Bavaria). When his whereabouts became known, up to 30,000 people gathered on the grounds outside the living quarters of the estate, where again, mass healings occurred, and again, a healing ban was imposed.

In his lectures, Bruno Groening informed interested listeners about the basis of healing on the spiritual path. He emphasized more than once that, after his own death, people would be capable of receiving the healing energy and of being healed.

What is the Bruno Groening Circle of Friends?

And it really occurred! In 1979, twenty years after his passing, Grete Haeusler started the Bruno Groening Circle of Friends, in which the teachings of this unusual man were passed on. Mrs. Haeusler, a teacher originally from Austria, suffered from three incurable diseases until in 1950, when she was healed after attending one of Bruno Groening's lectures. By 2007, the year in which she passed away, she had managed to start communities in all parts of the world. Today the Circle of Friends is led by her son, Dieter Haeusler.

The Bruno Groening Circle of Friends consists of tens of thousands of people from more than 100 countries, all involved on a voluntary basis and loosely connected through the spirit of helping. The Circle of Friends pays all its organizational expenses through voluntary donations.

In the mid-1980's, individual physicians started to take an interest in this path. Today, thousands of physicians and members of other health care professions all over the world help to verify the healings and document them according to scientific criteria.

Every year, medical lecture tours and information events are held from North America to Australia and from Northern Europe to South Africa. Many books and other publications have been made available in over 37 languages, along with numerous DVDs and music CDs. Additionally, for the past thirteen years, a documentary film about the life and work of Bruno Groening has been shown nationally and internationally, featuring testimonies from eyewitnesses.
